THE CELEBRATION.

The manner in which the 4th of July vas celebrated in this city, showed that the spirit of 1776 is still burning in the hearts of the people. At an early hour crowds of people were seen coming into Oregon from all parts of the county and from the neighboring counties. At no previous year, has the attendance been so good, as at this time. It is estimated that there were not less than 2,000 persons on the grounds of the Court House

At 5 o'clock in the morning a salute was fired by the Oregon special artillery.
At 9 o'clock A. M., the various Sabbath

Schools formed in procession, headed by the flag and the Cornet Band, marched into the Court House enclosure. The programme as previously published, was carried out on the ground as far as possible, speeches and music and songs by the Glee Club, alternating. The oration by Prof. R. R. Calkins, of St. Joseph, was a masterly effort, and was enthusiastically responded to by the people.

A few incidents occurred which came near marring the pleasurableness of the occasion. The platform upon which the musicians were located, gave way twice, each time precipitating the band and the speakers, causing confusion and no little merriment. In the forenoon Mr. D. P. Ballard ansounced the programme, and Mr. T. H. Parrish did the same in the afternoon, The celebration wound up by a britliant display of fire works after nightfall, under the management of Messrs. Sherman and Hostetter. Although the toasts were not all responded to on account of the absence of the speakers, yet the day passed off pleasantly, the attendants on the celebration sior Manufacturing Company employs vowing renewed fidelity to the flag of
